Tuesday, June 12, 2018 | The Haven

Opening as a simple homeless shelter and soup kitchen in 1956, the Haven of Rest has evolved into one of our area's largest and most critically important human services providers. The Haven now manages ten ministries that serve our communities homeless population. In 2017, 2,100 people benefited from the Haven with over 70,000 meals and 47,000 bed nights of shelter. In mid-2017, the Haven underwent a rigorous process of change in leadership and restructuring of its operations. This process has carried through to the beginning of 2018 and will continue as the Haven rebuilds its long term sustainability serving our community. Hear more about The Haven's process of change, vision, and future outlook as the presenting sponsor of the June Eye Opener Breakfast.

President's Corner

Leadership is everyone's responsibility

By Kara Beer, IOM, MPA

In June 2016, I was celebrating five years as the Chamber's president and making great strides in professional success, but again had turn over in my small staff. At the same time, the community was seeking more guidance and leadership from the Chamber which demanded more of my time. Seven days after my anniversary my entire world was shaken by a doctor's appointment. The doctor explained that I could have ovarian cancer and need exploratory surgery ASAP. What was supposed to be a lunch hour doctor's appointment quickly turned into a four hours of lab work, ultrasounds, scheduling surgery, and sheer panic.

Today, I am happy to report that I am cancer and 9 tumors free. I'm very thankful for the amazing staff and physicians at Bronson Battle Creek for their outstanding care and facility. This personal moment in my life is where my leadership was truly tested in a different way and I found myself a bit lost. I had to rely on my staff to step up as the leaders that I knew them to be, and then some. During the remainder of 2016, I realized that I'm not invincible and that I don't need to do everything all myself. I had an amazing staff who filled in and stepped up where they were needed.

In 2017 at the U.S. Chamber's Committee of 100 conference, I was honored to meet and hear from Alison Levine. Hearing her speak and tell her story was exactly what I needed at a time to bring back that lost passion, dedication and excitement for leadership that I had felt slipped away.

Levine states that leadership is everyone's responsibility – it's not solely the responsibility of the C-level executives or management team. Everyone in an organization is responsible for helping to move forward with the mission, but in addition, every single employee/teammate/person must realize it's also their responsibility to look out for the people on either side of them, and help them move in the right direction as well.

As leaders we do get lost and change directions. We need a reminder as to why we do the things we do. I needed to be reminded that I am a good leader and that my team's strength is because of the work I've put into the Chamber. My team was and is a reflection of my leadership style. I felt inspired, empowered and even more dedicated. I felt a sense of pride for not only myself, but also my team. It was this reminder that encourages me to keep pushing my staff to find their true passion and while working with them daily to build their own leadership and life skills.

Advocacy & Government Affairs Efforts

Every business and every member is different and with that, many factors contribute to a positive environment conducive to business growth—from talent to roads to taxes. The Battle Creek Area Chamber of Commerce is continually working to make our community the best place to do business, but we can't do it alone. Business owners across the board are discovering how action on mission-critical business issues can be accomplished through the work of the Battle Creek Area Chamber of Commerce. We listen carefully to members and turn member input into action.

With 106 years of experience and hundreds of members, we have plenty of experience helping businesses do business with local, regional and national officials. If you have questions, we have answers. Whether it's a road trip to the statehouse, bringing together local, state and national officials at our Rap with Your Reps forums, your Chamber connects you with the people and policymakers who matter most to your business.
